A WORD FOR NEVADA.

The Salt Lake Tribune thus puts in some solid blows for Nevada:

The annual sneer of the Eastern press has been awakened by Col. McClure of the Philadelphia Times on little Nevada. It is natural, probably, though there is more political rascality carried on every day in Philadelphia than there has been in Nevada since that State was admitted into the Union. The Times apparently does not seem to reflect that if what it says is true, if $1,000,000 is liable to be spent on an election in a State where there are only some 15,000 voters, they must be a pretty solid set of men not to be utterly carried away. Suppose a proportionate amount could be distributed among the contract laborers in the coal fields of Pennsylvania; what would the result be? Or, even suppose a Nevada political manipulator were to go to Philadelphia, and being "heeled," undertake to handle that city: what would be the result? Now what are the facts about Nevada? In 1872 a Legislature was elected, which in turn elected J. P. Jones, Senator. A good deal of J. P. Jones' money was spent because he was one of the most generous of men, and at the time he had plenty of money. But had he announced himself a candidate, and in the same announcement declared that he had no money to spend in the campaign he would have been elected just the same, for a majority of the people wanted him for Senator. In 1874 a Legislature was elected that elected Wm. Sharon, Senator. He spent a great deal of money in the campaign, but the reason he was elected was because there was no candidate against him that was popular with the people. Two years later there was an election in which no money was spent and the voters of both parties stood almost precisely as they did in 1874. The truth of the business is that there is a greater proportion of corruptible voters in Nevada than in any Eastern State, and from what we know of the people East and West, it is our firm belief that so far as corruptible voters is concerned, $1,000 will secure ten times as many voters in New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois or even Massachusetts, as the same amount would in Nevada. The men who have put their money in Nevada campaigns have been men who do not mind spending money either in elections or business or anything else that they may take a fancy to. There is one man over there who, without any noise, gave the poor of Virginia City, the Winter after the great fire, $150,000. That man has persistently refused to ever be a candidate, but he has helped a good many of his friends who have been candidates, and it is easy to see that he would not hesitate to hire halls, brass bands, or employ speakers to work in any cause in which he was interested. If we believe that the Eastern press says, that sometimes $500,000 or $1,000,000 is spent among 15,000 voters in a single campaign, we do not see how the legitimate conclusion can be avoided, that they must be the highest priced voters in America. That amount would make any Eastern State crazy.

—The newspaper reporters of Chicago incurred the displeasure of the Chief of Police, who refused them admission to the reports. The young men, therefore organized a police force of their own and flooded the city with such startling revelations of crime and disorder that the astonished Chief hastened to make his submission and beg their pardon.

—Another big mining suit has been decided in Utah, and the case will go to the Supreme Court of the United States. It all hinges on the dips, apexes, etc. It will cost in all about half a million dollars. When the laws are amended so as to sell mines like real estate, bounded by surface lines, the miner will not have to divide with the lawyers.

—Arthur is getting better just as the grave digger was getting ready to put him underground, he began to recover and is made President of an underground railway company.
